Lesson Title: Healthy Relationships & Lifestyle Choices

Instructional Time Required: One Class Session

Lesson Objectives: Students should be able to:

- Understand the importance of healthy relationships.
- Identify characteristics of a healthy relationship.
- Understand the difference between a healthy and unhealthy relationship.
- Define consent and identify when it cannot be given.
- Understand the importance of setting boundaries in a relationship.

Lesson Overview:

This lesson starts with learning about the importance of healthy relationships. Students will learn about the characteristics of a healthy relationship and an unhealthy relationship. They will also learn how to maintain a healthy relationship. Students will watch a video called “The Surprising Key to Building a Healthy Relationship that Lasts” created by Tedx Talks. This video describes the key to a healthy and lasting relationship, the most common blocks to using this key, and how to remove the blocks. Students will learn about the importance of setting boundaries in a relationship as well as consent. Students will watch a video called “Understanding Consent” created by Teaching Sexual Health Alberta Human Services. We recommend taking time on the consent slide, video, and discussion because it is an extremely important topic for students to understand and feel comfortable discussing. Students will watch a video called “Don’t Let Pressure End Up As Sexual Abuse” created by Fight Child Abuse, which depicts a young girl who feels pressured in a social situation to do certain things even though it makes her feel uncomfortable. It highlights the importance of spotting red flags to protect yourself from a potentially dangerous situation. Students will read about a real-life story in which a girl is feeling pressured to participate in sexual things with her boyfriend even though it makes her feel uncomfortable. This is an important scenario for girls and boys to be aware of to protect themselves from ending up in a similar situation.

Key Terms in Lesson:

Consent- when two people agree to engage in a sexual act. Consent can be revoked at any time during a sexual encounter. A sexual act without consent from both parties is sexual assault.

Sexual assault- when someone touches another person in a sexual manner without consent or makes another person touch them in a sexual manner without consent.

New Jersey Student Learning Standards Addressed in This Lesson:

- 2.1.8.SSH.3: Demonstrate communication skills that will support healthy relationships.
