Lesson Title: Digital Awareness & Online Safety

Instructional Time Required: One Class Session

Lesson Objectives: Students should be able to:

- Understand the difference between online enticement and sextortion.
- Understand where predators are reaching their victims.
- Define what grooming is and identify grooming tactics.
- List privacy suggestions to take to protect themselves online.
- Identify the steps to take if they see something inappropriate online.

Lesson Overview:

This lesson starts with learning about online enticement, sextortion, and online exploitation statistics. Students will learn about where predators are reaching out to their victims online and the grooming process they employ to build a positive relationship with their intended victims. Students will watch a video called "This is Human Trafficking- Social Media Recruitment" created by Youth Activist Inc. This is an extremely important video because it highlights how traffickers and predators are using social media and the internet to reach out and exploit youth. We recommend a discussion following this video. Students will read about a real-life story where a young man with a promising future was sextorted online and unfortunately took his own life. Sextortion has been a growing problem in the United States the past few years, and it is important for girls AND boys to know the seriousness of it. Students will learn about privacy suggestions for social media and the internet, and what steps to take if they ever find themselves in an uncomfortable situation online. Students will take know2protect's Pledge2Protect, vowing to stay safe online.
